

expense tree grew on steroids. We finally convinced his girlfriend Cathy to do the race, and my college buddy Brent, who proved to be a valuable asset throughout.

checks with the race crew, skills testing, and the race prologue, a mini race to determine the seeding for the start of the race. We had to present thick brush with our bikes until one in the morning, thankfully emerging

